

BRITAIN GET IN TOUCH WITH FRENCH GOVERNMENT ON THE TURKISH CRISIS

British Cabinet Has Considered Military, Naval and Air Measures to be Adopted to Guard the Freedom of the Dardanelles—Foreign Minister Curzon is to Proceed to Paris for Consultation—Kemal Pasha Has Not Replied Whether He Will Respect the Neutrality of the Straits—A Meeting of the French Cabinet Has Been Hastily Called For This Morning.

London, Sept. 18.—(By the A. P.)—The British cabinet conference on the Turkish crisis adjourned at six o'clock this evening after a day of anxious deliberation.

Today's discussions concerned the military, naval and air measures to be adopted to guard the freedom of the straits, reinforcements, for which are being provided.

MEETING OF FRENCH CABINET HURRIEDLY CALLED FOR TODAY

Paris, Sept. 18.—(By the A. P.)—A meeting of the French cabinet has been hurriedly called for tomorrow morning at Elysee Palace to consider certain divergent views which exist between Great Britain and France over the question of the straits. The meeting was originally set for Thursday, but the date was changed tonight so that the ministers under the presidency of M. Millerand could give immediate consideration to the British plans for the defense of the zone of the Dardanelles as outlined in the official British note issued Saturday.

It is believed that the French government is opposed to military action against the Turks in the event the Turkish attempt to cross the straits, and it is considered quite improbable that France will send troops.

Well informed quarters say that Great Britain has either informed France or is about to inform her that it is the intention of the British empire to defend the straits against any possible Turkish occupation with the full strength of the British military and naval forces. It is further regarded as probable that Great Britain has asked France to participate in this military move by providing additional troops. It is for this reason that the cabinet meeting has been hurriedly called. Premier Poincaré's policy in the present crisis is frankly described in official circles as "sacred," and he desires a settlement along possible lines.

The role of a mediator is said to appeal strongly to M. Poincaré in the present situation, and many observers feel that he therefore will not accept the British policy as outlined in the British announcement.

The French view is that military action can only serve further to arouse the passions of the Turkish people and to call an immediate conference to settle the problem around the table. Unofficial reports reached Paris tonight that Lord Curzon, British foreign secretary, is coming here to confer with M. Poincaré, but the foreign office could not confirm this.

LLOYD GEORGE PLEASED WITH PROMPT RESPONSE OF COLONIES

London, Sept. 18.—(By the A. P.)—Prime Minister Lloyd George, at the close of the cabinet meeting this evening, sent a message of thanks to the prime ministers of Australia and New Zealand for their prompt response to the call for co-operation in the present Turkish situation. It was stated tonight.

"Your prompt response to our inquiry to resist any threat against the freedom of the straits and the sanctity of the Gallipoli peninsula, has been received with enthusiasm. This empire cannot consent to sacrifice the results of the gallant struggle and final victory, which its sons won in the eastern theatre of the war."

NO AGREEMENT FOR REINFORCEMENTS BY ALLIES

Rome, Sept. 18.—(By the A. P.)—No agreement has been reached among the allies for dispatching reinforcements to prevent the Kemalists from violating the neutral zones in the Dardanelles. The small Italian detachment sent there by the high commissioner in Constantinople, it is understood, has been withdrawn.

Berlin, Sept. 18.—The Zeitung Amnittel asserts that Mustafa Kemal Pasha has sent a telegram message to M. Tschetserin, Russian soviet foreign minister, that he entirely abides by the treaty of March 1921 between the Moslems and Anglos. Jackton, Calif., Sept. 18.—(By the A. P.)—All forty-seven of the miners entombed in the Argonaut mine August 27, are dead. It was announced officially shortly before nine o'clock tonight.

One of the bodies indicated that all the men had died within five hours of the beginning of the fire August 27, officials said. All the miners were found behind the second of two bulkheads they had built in a crease cut 450 feet down in the mine. E. Byron O. Pickard, an early exploration expert, said that the miners for this district, was the first man to go behind the bulkhead and discovered the bodies.

NOTE TO REMAINERS FROM ALLIED GOVERNMENTS

London, Sept. 18.—A Constantinople dispatch to the Times today says that following upon the verbal communication which the Ankara government had handed to the allied governments today, the latter had issued a note to the Kemalists.

The note, which was signed by the allied governments, said that the condition of the straits behind the bulkheads was such that life could not have been sustained there by the entombed men for more than five hours.

BRITISH TO BE READY IN CASE OF EMERGENCY

London, Sept. 18.—(By the A. P.)—The declaration that Great Britain does not intend to engage in any new war, obtained from an authoritative source today, coupled with other statements of a modified policy, is taken to mean that the British government is prepared to meet any possible emergency. The government, it is stated, is confident that the Ankara government would respect these zones.

While it is not seriously expected in official circles that the Kemalists will make an attempt either to capture Constantinople or cross the straits, the British government is ready in case of emergency and not sacrifice the measure of troops long stationed in Constantinople.

The many statements issued with the permission of Downing street after each conference are interpreted as emphasizing the intention of the cabinet to carry out the policy which it has faithfully adhered to for more than three years regarding Turkey and the straits, and despite much criticism at home and abroad, that policy, which is coupled with the Greek defeat, will still be vigorously followed.

The first task of Premier Lloyd George is to win the support of his own party. Great Britain is laying her cards on the table, and it is not her intention, it is declared, to attempt to make a new Gibraltar of Gallipoli. The cabinet is thoroughly convinced that French public opinion is with the Turks, but Lord Curzon, British secretary for foreign affairs, who is proceeding to Paris, will point out to Premier Poincaré that bigger issues than Turkey are at stake.

The Dominion government further informed the British government that it would welcome fullest information in order to determine upon the advisability of summoning the Canadian parliament to meet in special session.

In the four hours' debate that is to precede the final vote, democratic opponents plan to continue their final fight on the bill, which was opened today by Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, minority leader in the tariff fight. Speaking for more than three hours, he assailed the bill as one that would increase living costs to the people of the country.

New Brunswick, N. J., Sept. 18.—(By the A. P.)—Arrests tomorrow are promised tonight by the authorities of both Middlesex and Essex counties in Somerset, England, in connection with the double shooting on Thursday night of Rev. Edward Hall, late rector of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, and Mrs. James Hall, his wife.

Although some of the detectives of the Middlesex county prosecutor's staff have been in the belief that the double shooting occurred in the vicinity of the church, the police of the county have been closely checked. The arrest, he said, probably would be made tomorrow morning.

He added that his study of the case had convinced him that the double shooting was a "madman's act."

One theory held by the police in regard to the double shooting received material substantiation when it became known tonight that there were deep nail scratches on the face and arms of Mrs. Mills. It also was revealed that her face bore the marks of powder burns, and that the single bullet fired into her forehead had been discharged at close range.

INTERIMMER BELIEVES IMPEACHMENT OF DAUGHERTY

Declares in a Letter to Representative Keller That the Attorney General's "Action and Non-Action Have Reached the Proportions of a Public Scandal"—Does Not Regard Daugherty's Application for Injunction in Itself "An Impeachable Offense"—House Has Postponed Consideration of the Keller Impeachment Charges Until the December Session of Congress.

Washington, Sept. 18.—By a vote of eight to three, the house judiciary committee, at a hastily called meeting today postponed consideration of the Keller impeachment charges against Attorney General Daugherty—set for tomorrow—until the next session of congress, beginning in December.

Decision to defer action virtually was reached at a conference of republican members of the committee earlier in the day, at which it was contended that the hearing should not proceed while Mr. Daugherty was in Chicago in connection with injunction proceedings against striking railway employees, the basis for the impeachment charges.

Action by the committee, with democratic voting in opposition, was taken a short time after Representative Keller, republican, Minnesota, who had sought impeachment, had announced that Samuel Undermyer of New York would represent him before the committee. Mr. Keller characterized the delay by the committee as "unfair" and later made public a letter from Mr. Undermyer which he had planned to present at the meeting tomorrow.

Mr. Undermyer wrote that he did not regard Mr. Daugherty's application for the injunction as "an impeachable offense" of itself, but believed the "attorney general should be promptly removed from his office" on the ground of "unwillingness or inability to enforce the anti-trust laws, in which his action and non-action have reached the proportions of a great public scandal, resulting in imminent peril to the country."

The New York attorney declared that if he could be of service in bringing to the attention of the committee "this scandalous situation" with respect to anti-trust prosecution he would be glad to do so as a public service, without pay. As to the charges growing out of the injunction proceedings, Mr. Undermyer said acceptance of service as an attorney would depend on whether Mr. Keller could submit evidence to substantiate his charge of improper conduct in office.

In granting the petition for continuance, Commissioner Lavery, however, said no further continuance would be contemplated.

The hearing on September 25 will be on the petition of Morse's counsel to have the case removed from the Connecticut court to the jurisdiction of the southern New York district court. United States District Attorney E. J. Smith, of Hartford and Assistant District Attorney John Joyce, of New York withdrew the original complaint and filed a new one after the defense had moved for a dismissal of the case on the grounds that the original warrant was not specific enough and did not contain a copy of the indictment.
